BEFORE YOU START

Facilitating your own team

The skills behind every conversation. Read this once; come back to it before each session.

Wear two hats

1. Speak last
   Ask the question, then wait. Add your view at the end, as one view among others.
2. Name your hat
   "Now I'm taking off my facilitator hat and speaking as your manager."
3. Say what's open
   "We decide this together" or "I decide, but I want your input". Be honest about which.
4. Hand it over
   If the topic is about you, your leadership or a conflict you're in, let someone else facilitate.

Prepare

1. Purpose
   Finish the sentence: "After this session, we will have…"
2. Invitation
   Why you're doing this, in your own words. Short, human, no hidden agenda.
3. Room
   Wall space, big canvases, thick markers, chairs in a circle. Online: test the board first.
4. Time
   No laptops for email, no "first half only".

The core moves

1. Open · Check-in round · why we're here and what we'll have at the end · one or two ground rules
2. Hold · Write before talking · rounds so everyone speaks · keep time out loud · a "later" sheet
3. Close · Protect the last 10 minutes · read back · "anything you can't live with?" · who writes it up · check-out

Make it safe to be honest

- Start with low-risk questions and build up.
- Use silent writing and anonymous options.
- Your first reaction to criticism decides if there will be a second: "Thank you, tell me more."
- Name the silence: "What would someone who disagrees say?"
- Follow through, or people stop speaking up.

CONVERSATION 1

Why are we here?

On the canvas: A purpose statement ("We exist to… for… by…") and a picture of success in three years.

Signs your team needs it

1. People describe the team's job very differently
2. The team says yes to almost everything
3. New people take months to understand what the team is for
4. Talk is about tasks, never about who it's for

Exercise

Explain it to a friend

The full steps are on the exercise canvas and in the workbook.

Would we say this to a friend? Does it help us say no to something?

Session plan: Why are we here? · 75 min · 09:00–10:15

09:00 5 min	Check-in round	"In one word: how do you arrive today?"
09:05 5 min	Why we're here, and what we'll have at the end	"By the end, we'll have a first version of our purpose, in our own words."
09:10 10 min	Explain it to a friend, in pairs (2 × 4 min)	"Explain our team the way you would to a good friend at dinner. Listeners: only write down phrases that sound clear and human."
09:20 15 min	Post-its on the canvas, cluster, circle the strongest words	"Which words keep coming back? Which ones would you be proud to say?"
09:35 15 min	Draft "We exist to… for… by…"	"Good enough for now. We can polish the words later."
09:50 15 min	In three years' time…, then dot vote	"Vote for the version that feels true, not just ambitious."
10:05 10 min	Read back, agree next steps, check-out	"What do you take with you from today?"

CONVERSATION 1 · WHY ARE WE HERE?

When it gets tricky

What often happens in this conversation, and what you can say.

“Our purpose is just what our boss tells us.”

WHAT YOU CAN DO

“You’re right that some of it is given. Within that, what do we want to be known for?”

Endless wordsmithing

WHAT YOU CAN DO

“We have the meaning. The words can be polished later.” Ask two volunteers to bring back two versions.

A real disagreement about what the team is for

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Don’t smooth it over. Write both versions down: “What would be different in our work if it were one or the other?”

Your notes for this session

CONVERSATION 2

Who are we?

On the canvas: The team's strengths, what it wants to develop, and how each person works at their best.

Signs your team needs it

1. New people have joined
2. People rarely ask each other for help
3. Repeated misunderstandings about communication
4. People know titles, not strengths

Exercise

Personal user manual

The full steps are on the exercise canvas and in the workbook.

Repeat this conversation every time someone joins or leaves.

Session plan: Who are we? · 70 min · 09:00–10:10

09:00	5 min	Check-in round "Something people here might not know about you."
09:05	5 min	Share your own personal user manual first "I'll go first, and I'll be honest about the pressure one."
09:10	10 min	Everyone writes their manual, in silence "One post-it per prompt. Share what you're comfortable with."
09:20	20 min	Pairs: talk it through, one question each "Ask one question to understand, not to challenge."
09:40	15 min	Each pair shares one surprising or useful insight "Not the whole manual. Just one thing you learned."
09:55	5 min	Agree where the manuals live, and how new joiners add theirs
10:00	10 min	Check-out "What will you do differently with someone in this room?"

CONVERSATION 2 · WHO ARE WE?

When it gets tricky

What often happens in this conversation, and what you can say.

MOMENT 1

Someone doesn't want to share

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Always optional: "Share what you're comfortable with."

Answers stay on the surface

WHAT YOU CAN DO

"And when it really matters, what helps you do your best work?" Or share a deeper answer yourself.

Something comes up that hurts

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Acknowledge it: "That sounds important. Let's come back to it in the decisions conversation." Then do.

Your notes for this session

CONVERSATION 3

How do we work?

On the canvas: When and how we plan, make and review, and the meetings and habits we drop.

Signs your team needs it

1. Full calendar, unclear priorities
2. "We should have talked about this earlier"
3. Deep work happens in the evenings
4. Nobody remembers the last look back

Exercise

Draw your team's loop

The full steps are on the exercise canvas and in the workbook.

For every meeting you drop: "Who might miss something, and how will they hear about it now?"

Session plan: How do we work? · 75 min · 09:00–10:15

09:00	5 min	Check-in round "One meeting you'd miss, and one you wouldn't."
09:05	5 min	Draw the loop: plan, make, review "Every team goes through this loop, whether they plan it or not."
09:10	10 min	Everyone writes the meetings and habits we have today "One per post-it. Include the informal ones."
09:20	10 min	Place them on the loop, then look at the pattern "What do you notice?"
09:30	15 min	Keep, change, combine or remove: one by one, quickly "What problem was this meeting solving?"
09:45	20 min	Agree when and how we plan, make and review "Let's try this for one cycle, then look at it again."
10:05	10 min	Read back, put the review in the calendar, check-out

When it gets tricky

What often happens in this conversation, and what you can say.

MOMENT 1

The meeting nobody likes but nobody can drop

WHAT YOU CAN DO

"How can we make it cost us less?" Often it can become a weekly written update.

Different people need different rhythms

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Agree a minimum shared rhythm and let the rest be flexible.

The review doesn't happen

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Put it in the calendar right away, keep it short, look at real work, not slides.

Your notes for this session

CONVERSATION 4

How do we make decisions?

On the canvas: The decisions that come up often: who decides, who is asked, who is told, and how.

Signs your team needs it

1. The same topic keeps coming back
2. "Who decided this?" more often than "why?"
3. Everything goes up to the manager
4. Good discussions, no clear decision

Exercise

Choose how to decide

The full steps are on the exercise canvas and in the workbook.

Reopen a decision only with new information: "What new information do we have?"

Session plan: How do we make decisions? · 75 min · 09:00–10:15

09:00	5 min	Check-in round "A decision this month that went well, and why."
09:05	10 min	Everyone writes decisions that come up again and again "One per post-it. Small ones count too."
09:15	10 min	Cluster and pick one that causes friction today
09:25	15 min	Read the twelve ways to decide together "Does this need narrowing, speed, everyone on board, or a final say?"
09:40	20 min	Choose: who decides, who is asked, who is told, and how "Could someone new read this and know what to do?"
10:00	5 min	Agree to try it the next few times
10:05	10 min	Read back and check-out

When it gets tricky

What often happens in this conversation, and what you can say.

“But you’re the manager, you decide.”

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Say which decisions you keep and which you hand over. Then really hand them over.

Everyone wants consensus for everything

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Offer consent: “Is this good enough for now, and safe enough to try?”

The decision isn’t yours to give

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Write it on the canvas with its real owner, so the team sees where its influence ends.

Your notes for this session

Twelve ways to decide

Choose the way before the discussion starts. Ask what this decision needs most: narrowing many options, speed, everyone on board, or a clear final say. Then pick one way from that group and write it on the canvas.

Narrow down options

Dot voting

How it works: Everyone places a few dots in one round. Then talk about the options at the top.

Use it when: A long list of ideas needs a shortlist, fast.

Watch out: Popular isn't always right. Discuss the top options before you decide.

Multi-voting

How it works: Vote in rounds and drop the weakest option each time, until a shortlist remains.

Use it when: One round of votes is too scattered to show a favourite.

Watch out: It takes longer. Agree the number of rounds up front.

Scoring matrix

How it works: Rate each option against three to five agreed criteria, then compare totals and trade-offs.

Use it when: Every option has its own trade-offs.

Watch out: Agree the criteria before scoring, or people choose criteria that fit their favourite.

Decide quickly

Majority vote

How it works: One vote each. The option with more than half of the votes wins.

Use it when: There are two options and either would work.

Watch out: The losing side may not commit. Only use it when both options are acceptable.

Plurality

How it works: One vote each. The option with the most votes wins, even below half.

Use it when: There are several options and no time for more rounds.

Watch out: The winner may have less than half the room behind it.

Authority

How it works: One person hears from the people affected, then decides and explains why.

Use it when: One person is accountable for the outcome.

Watch out: Say up front that one person decides, and explain the decision afterwards.

Bring everyone along

Fist to five

How it works: Everyone shows zero to five fingers at the same time. Ask the lowest: what would raise your score by one?

Use it when: People seem to agree, but you can't tell if they really do.

Watch out: Low scores need a conversation, not a new vote.

Consensus

How it works: Share a proposal, listen to concerns, adapt it, and check that everyone can back it.

Use it when: Everyone needs to support the decision to carry it out.

Watch out: Slow, and the most cautious person can block. Save it for decisions everyone must carry.

Consent

How it works: Ask for serious reasons not to try it. Resolve the valid objections, then go ahead.

Use it when: You need to move on, even if it isn't everyone's first choice.

Watch out: An objection needs a reason, a risk or harm, not just a preference.

Settle who has the final say

Supermajority

How it works: Agree a threshold, such as 75%, before voting. Go ahead only if you reach it.

Use it when: A big decision needs more than a narrow win.

Watch out: Set the threshold before the vote, never after.

Unanimity

How it works: Each person gives a clear yes or no. A single no sends the proposal back.

Use it when: Every person must actively agree before you move.

Watch out: One person can stop everything. Use it rarely.

Delegation

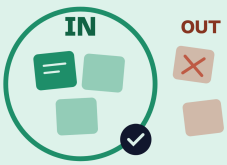

How it works: Choose who decides, and agree their mandate, limits and deadline.

Use it when: The whole team doesn't need to weigh in every time.

Watch out: Write the mandate down, and don't overrule the person afterwards.

Combine them: narrow down with dot voting, then decide by consent. Whatever you choose, agree who decides, who is asked first, and who is told afterwards.

CONVERSATION 5

How do we want to be together?

On the canvas: A short team contract: five to eight behaviours that are IN, and the ones that are OUT.

Signs your team needs it

1. Tension that nobody names
2. People complain to you, not to each other
3. A behaviour bothers several people, but everyone tolerates it
4. New people keep stepping on unwritten rules

Exercise

The two-circle team contract

The full steps are on the exercise canvas and in the workbook.

Could you tell whether someone is doing it? If not, rewrite it.

Session plan: How do we want to be together? · 90 min · 09:00–10:30

09:00	5 min	Check-in round "A moment this team was at its best."
09:05	5 min	Draw two circles: IN and OUT
09:10	15 min	IN: behaviours we want to practise and protect "What were people doing when we were at our best? Start with a verb."
09:25	15 min	OUT: behaviours that undermine trust, inclusion or good work "Behaviours, not people."
09:40	20 min	Rewrite until you could see it happen "Could you tell if someone is doing this?"
10:00	10 min	Dot vote: keep the five to eight that matter most
10:10	10 min	Can everyone live with this? What do we do when it's broken?
10:20	10 min	Check-out

When it gets tricky

What often happens in this conversation, and what you can say.

A post-it is clearly about one person

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Keep the focus on the behaviour: “Do we agree it belongs in OUT?” Follow up privately if needed.

The contract is too polite

WHAT YOU CAN DO

“What’s one behaviour that happens here that we haven’t written down?” Then silent time, or anonymous post-its.

People disagree about a behaviour

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Talk it through. If you can’t agree, write down what you can: “Nobody is expected to answer after six.”

Your notes for this session

CONVERSATION 6

How do we learn and reform?

On the canvas: What to keep, what to change, one or two small experiments, and what should bring you back to the canvas.

Signs your team needs it

1. Something changed: a new person, leader or strategy
2. Agreements are quietly ignored
3. The team feels tired or stuck
4. Six months since you looked at the canvas

Exercise

Keep / Change / Try

The full steps are on the exercise canvas and in the workbook.

An experiment nobody looks at again is just a wish. Agree who keeps an eye on it, and when.

Session plan: How do we learn and reform? · 60 min · 09:00–10:00

09:00	5 min	Check-in round "What's changed for you since we last talked about the team?"
09:05	5 min	Walk past the canvas, if you have one "Is this still true?"
09:10	10 min	Keep: write, then a round "What about this team should we protect?"
09:20	10 min	Change: write, then a round "What is no longer helping us?"
09:30	15 min	Try: choose one or two small experiments "What exactly will we do, from when, and who keeps an eye on it?"
09:45	5 min	What should make us sit down with the canvas again?
09:50	10 min	Read back and check-out

When it gets tricky

What often happens in this conversation, and what you can say.

MOMENT 1

Change turns into complaining

WHAT YOU CAN DO

"What part of this is within our control?" Then move to Try sooner.

MOMENT 2

The same Change items come back

WHAT YOU CAN DO

"This is the third time we've written this. What's really stopping us?"

MOMENT 3

Big changes nobody chose

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Make room first: "What are we losing, and what do we want to take with us?"

Your notes for this session

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A finished canvas

Example: a seven-person customer support team (invented, for illustration). Yours will look different. Notice how concrete it is: names, numbers and behaviours someone could actually see.

1 Why are we here?

"We exist to get customers back to work fast, for the people who use our product every day, by solving problems on the first contact and telling product what keeps breaking."

In three years: half as many repeat tickets; product asks us before they ship.

2 Who are we?

Strengths: calm on the phone (Sara, Jonas), spotting patterns (Mei), writing clear help articles (Ali).

Want to grow: data skills, saying no to side requests.

From the user manuals: "Message me, don't call before 10." "Ask me twice if it's urgent."

3 How do we work?

Monday 15 min: plan the week and who covers the queue.

Thursday 30 min: look at the top five repeat problems.

Monthly: one hour look back. Dropped: the Friday status meeting (now a written update).

4 How do we make decisions?

Refunds under €200: whoever has the ticket decides, and tells the team.

Changes to help articles: the writer decides after asking one colleague.

Shift plan: the team agrees by consent. Hiring: the manager decides after asking everyone.

5 How do we want to be together?

IN: we ask for help after 20 minutes stuck · we say it in the room, not after · we hand over tickets with a two-line note.

OUT: answering the team chat after 18:00 · "that's not my ticket".

6 How do we learn and reform?

Keep: the Thursday pattern half hour. Change: Monday runs long.

Try for one month: a shared "stuck" emoji in the chat. Mei checks in at the next look back.

Come back to the canvas when someone joins or the product changes a lot.

REMOTE TEAMS

Running it online or hybrid

The six conversations work online. They need more structure than in a room, because it's easier to hide behind a screen.

Six rules for online sessions

1. One person, one screen
   In hybrid sessions everyone joins from their own laptop, even people in the same room. Otherwise the room talks and the screens listen.
2. One board, tested
   Put the board link in the invitation. Open with a two-minute tour: where to write, how to add a note, where the timer is.
3. Get a co-host
   Someone else runs breakout rooms, the timer and the board, so you can watch the people.
4. Shorter blocks
   Keep it to 75–90 minutes. A two-hour session works better as two shorter ones on different days.
5. Write first, then talk
   Silent writing on digital notes, with a visible timer. Each person gets their own colour.
6. Make the rounds explicit
   Paste the speaking order in the chat, and call names. Silence online is harder to read than in a room.

Each exercise, online

- Explain it to a friend · Pairs in breakout rooms. The listener types phrases straight onto the board.
- Personal user manual · Everyone fills in their own frame before the session. Share in rounds.
- Draw your team's loop · One shared timeline on the board. Everyone adds their own meetings first.
- Choose how to decide · A table on the board, one row per decision. Dot-vote which rows to discuss.
- Two-circle team contract · Two circles on the board. Anonymous notes work well online.
- Keep / Change / Try · Three columns and a timer. Vote with dots on which Try to start.

AFTER THE SESSIONS

Keep it alive

A typical series

1. Week 1 · Why are we here?
2. Week 2–3 · Who are we?
3. Week 5 · How do we work?
4. Week 7 · How do we make decisions?
5. Week 9 · How do we want to be together?
6. After ~3 months · How do we learn and reform?

Start with the conversation your team needs most. Put the next date in the calendar before people leave the room.

Bring in an outside facilitator when

1. The topic is about you
2. Trust is low
3. The stakes are high
4. You want to take part fully

A colleague from another team can do it too. Or swap: you facilitate theirs, they facilitate yours.

Follow-through

1. Write it up within a day
   Just the canvas and a short list of agreements. Put it where people see it.
2. Use it
   Check the decision rules, walk new joiners through it, point to the contract.
3. Follow up on actions
   On your normal task list. Two minutes in the next team meeting: "How are we doing with what we agreed?"
4. Notice what changes
   "What's different since we had this conversation?" Celebrate the small things.
